The Sajjada applied in the 14th inst. for a Rahdari to start on the 20th inst. She is inconvenienced as her luggage to Mecca.

Write after D2 cons. to report whether a Rahdari is still needed for the Sajjada who is leaving to start on the 20th and to give her one on the 20th.

[I have seen her a number of times at Bangalore and apparently without all the formalities of former ones]

Also inform the D2 cons. that ~~facts~~ orders will be sent in due course on the point raised by them

Put this up again. To some extent there has been a conflict of orders. It is possible to reconcile them if the Govt. reserve to itself the right to issue Rahdari and reception orders in the case of important Muslim Rahdaris in the case all minor institutions being applied for and granted after D2 cons.

times in the Kadur District since Certain insignia to which he is entitled. The Sajjada has been running about fairly freely and no request for the issue of a Naharani has been made probably because the visits were more or less informal. From the terms of this letter dated 19.8.13 it is inferable that the Naharani is now asked for, for fear that his rights to them may cease by desuetude

In the Secretariat Compilation of 1888, the Sajjada of this Dargah is known as one of the Mutadhikaries entitled to certain insignia. The list is a very long one and is stated to be based upon a Sanad granted by His Highness in 1857. It is doubtful if at any time these insignia were ever paraded.

The only instance that we have of a Naharani actually granted by Govt. was in 1870 during the British Administration when the local authorities were requested to furnish assistance to the Sajjada travelling with his family and taking with him two Palankeens, ten carts, two horses and thirty men.

X H C

From the memorandum Serial no 2 in G File no 34 of 1892 it is seen that the Sajjada actually claimed a right to Adda Palki and 72 others in Sirpia it was however held by C.R. that the Makandar had failed to make out his rights to them and that a simple Nahadari may alone be issued.

In 1891 again the Sajjada prayed for a Nahadari to parade a long list of inSirpia and this petition was forwarded to the Dy Commr for needful being done A Nahadari was accordingly issued on 11th August 1892 after Dy Commr permitting the Sajjada to parade a number of inSirpia with the exception of Adda palki and 5 other inSirpia. The inSirpia then permitted include the most were asked for.

It would thus be seen that though his claim to parade a large array of Risaldars was denied by the Chief Commr yet his right to the display of some of them appears to have been recognized by the Local Govt Commr and incidentally by Govt. It may also be noted that the Risaldars now proposed to be paraded are ordinary men

In view of the fact that the present term is to be enjoyed by the Raja for life and that on the last two occasions the Rahadaries were issued only by the Govt Commr, it is a matter for consideration whether the Govt Commr
